Almería can be easily reached by road: E-15 Mediterranean and A-92 motorways connect Granada-Almería, via Guadix, and the main road N-340 joins Almería with Malaga, along the Mediterranean coastline. A complete road network connects Almería with the Northern part of the province and Nijar, the gate to the Natural Park where visitors may discover its secluded beaches and crystal-clear waters, some of them only accessible to adventurous trekkers and mountain bikers.

From Almería Intermodal Station (railway and coach stations), RENFE, Spanish National Railways, offers travellers the possibility to visit our picturesque villages and beautiful natural landscapes only miles away from Almería city centre. For more information about timetables and ticket purchase, please visit Renfe website at <http://www.renfe.es> or call +34 902 24 02 02. Coach services depart from Almería daily to cities and villages in the province and also connect Almería to most important Spanish capital cities such as Madrid, Barcelona, Seville, Cordoba, Cadiz, Granada, Jaén, Malaga or Murcia. Coach services to different European destinations are also available from Almería Intermodal Station (location: Plaza de la Estación, s/n, telf.: 950 26 20 98).

How to get to the airport

By car. You can reach the airport via the AL-14 motorway following road indications to the airport, located nine kilometres from the city centre. Once you find the airport exit, access to Nijar can be taken through a main road with one lane in each direction. You can also gain direct access to this road from the Mediterranean A-7 motorway.

By taxi: 15€ to Almería city centre; to Aguadulce 23€, to Cabo de Gata 26€, to El Ejido 45€, to Mojácar 75€ or to Roquetas de Mar 33€. Please remember that taxi fare is estimated.
